Compulsory REVISION comments	The literature review was not thorough; the methodology has not incorporated the use of sufficient numbers of samples in space–time convergence. The paper does not clearly state the progress of the historical flow of space and time convergence. The problem faced by the African people today is not clear.
Minor REVISION comments	More survey on literature is required for the methodology part. Some survey can be conducted for knowing the hindrance in time and space convergence both transport and technology.
Optional/General comments	Discussion. There was no mention of the limitations of the study
